PREFACE.

IN PLACING a new work before the public it is customary to pen a few words by way of introduction, a piece of courtesy we have no desire to omit in the present instance.

A Directory is perhaps the most necessary and useful article which a business man possesses, and one which no tradesman can afford to be without. The ordinary type of Directory however, is at once too elaborate and costly to enable it to become of universal acceptance.

What has long been required is a Directory containing a digest of all the chief public and business information, issued at a price bringing it within the reach of every one, and published at regular periods to ensure the requisite accuracy and freshness of information.

To supply this need is the aim of the present work. The information is new, the price low, and should no unforeseen circumstance be in the way, it is the intention of the publishers to make it an annual affair.

In conclusion, the publishers tender their thanks to those who have recognised the utility of their advertising pages, to subscribers and to all those who have in any way afforded information.
