RADCLIFFE.

RADCLIFFE is a town and parish 7 miles N. N. W. of Manchester and  $2\frac{1}{2}$  miles S. S. W. of Bury, containing 2,466 acres of land. The population in 1851 was 6,293, and in 1861, 8,840. The name of this place is old English and is derived from a cliff of red rock on the south-east side of the river Irwell, below the confluence of the Roach, and opposite to the village of Radcliffe. The principal branches of trade carried on here comprise cotton spinning, calico printing, and the manufacture of gingham, nankeens, checks, fustians, smallwares, ironfounding, machine making, &c. There are also several collieries in the parish. Radcliffe is separated from the township of Pilkington by the river Irwell, over which is a bridge of two arches. The Roman Watling street and the Bolton and Bury Canal pass through the parish, and here is a station on the East Lancashire Railway. The town is supplied with gas by the Radcliffe and Pilkington Gas Co., which was established in 1845. The church dedicated to St. Mary is an ancient structure built at different periods, and is in various styles of architecture, with a low square tower, was restored in 1845, and a north transept was added in 1846 by subscription. The benefice is a rectory in the patronage of the Earl of Wilton. St. Thomas' (Chapel of Ease), is a substantial stone building erected in 1819 at a cost of £5000, by the Dowager Marchioness of Westminster. There are chapels for Independents, Roman Catholics, and other denominations, a list of which are given below, with their respective ministers. Radcliffe Tower, now in ruins, was one of the most considerable manorial residences in the county; there is no precise information as to its date, but it appears that Richard Radcliffe, high sheriff of Lancaster (32 Edward III.), was of Radcliffe tower, as was his successor William de Radeclive, one of the Knights of the Grand Inquest of Henry IV. The Park attached to it stretched for some distance along the vale of the Irwell. The Market house was erected in 1851 at a cost of about £1500 by the Earl of Wilton, but is not used. An agricultural show is held here annually on September 28th. Races about the middle of August, and Fairs on the 29th and 30th of April, for horses and horned cattle, and on the 28th and 29th of September, for wool, cloth, and pedlary.

POST OFFICE, 14 BLACKBURN ST., RADCLIFFE ROAD,—MARSHALL TAYLOR, Postmaster. Letters arrive from Manchester at 7 a.m. and 2-5 p.m., and are despatched thereto at 10-45 a.m. & 8 p.m. Money Order Office & Savings Bank open from 9 till 4.

Letters arrive from Bury at 11 a.m., and are despatched thereto at 1-45 p.m. Money Order Office and Savings Bank open from 9 till 6.
