ADDRESS.

In issuing this new Directory of Bury and surrounding District, we desire to acknowledge the hearty support and assistance we have received, and to assure our numerous Subscribers that every effort has been made to produce a Directory worthy of such generous patronage.

The Historical and Topographical Sketches have been collected and revised with great care, and will, no doubt, enhance the utility of the work as a book of reference. In addition to a full Alphabetical Directory of each Town, and a proper classification of the Trades and Professions, we have given for Bury a comprehensive Street Directory, and a List of the Streets, Lanes, &c., in the Borough, with clear references to their respective situations.

We have to thank many gentlemen for the ready and courteous manner in which they have supplied us with information during the progress of the work.

P. BARRETT & Co.

BURY.

BURY is a populous market town and parliamentary and municipal borough, situated on the banks of the Irwell, 9 miles N.N.W. from Manchester, $6\frac{1}{2}$ from Rochdale, $5\frac{3}{4}$ from Bolton, 18 from Blackburn, $34\frac{1}{2}$ from Liverpool, $46\frac{1}{2}$ from Leeds, and 198 from London. It is one of the most important seats of manufacturing industry in Lancashire, and is intersected by the East Lancashire section, and the main line of the Lancashire and Yorkshire railway system, by which it has a rapid communication with Manchester, Liverpool, Leeds, and other parts of the kingdom. This Company have extensive works at Buckley Wells, for the construction and repair of their locomotive engines, carriages, waggons, &c.

Bury contains within its boundary, a great variety of important trades though the manufacture of cotton goods, embracing fustians, velveteens, &c., may be considered the staple trade. The Woollen business is also of considerable magnitude; the manufacture of blankets, flannels, and quilts, being carried on to a large extent in the town and neighbourhood. Here are also extensive paper mills, bleach and dye works, iron foundries and machine works, felt hat manufactories, breweries, &c.

The name of the town Bury, formerly spelled Byri, is a Saxon word, and signifies a castle or a market town, both probably applicable at a very early period of English history. Several Antiquarians have attempted to show that Bury was a Roman station, while others have maintained on much stronger grounds, that it was a Saxon station. One of the twelve ancient baronial castles of Lancashire stood in Castle Croft, on the banks of the Irwell. The ancient structure has now totally disappeared, but remains of the foundation have been several times dug up in the gardens, and coins have been found on the site, from the mints of the Edwards, Henry VIII., Elizabeth and the Stuarts. On the 25th August, 1865, the workmen engaged in the construction of a sewer opposite the Parish Church, came upon the foundation wall of the Ancient Castle of Bury, the sewer crossing the west wall of what appears to have been the keep. The interest excited induced the Improvement Commissioners to extend the excavations with a very satisfactory result. The building appears to have been a sort of peel or keep, with a space of about 20 feet between its outer face and the inside of the boundary wall, and the outer foundation walls would if entire, represent a quadrangle of about 110 by 113 feet. The masonry appeared to be not more ancient than early English, and the main foundation wall was not two feet thick, and was buttressed every few feet. Portions of the ancient foundation have been used in the erection of the Drill Hall or Castle Armoury, which now stands upon the ancient site of the Castle. Not far hence at a place called Castle Hill, the Court of the Royal Manor of Tottington was held, where the power of imprisonment and of the execution of criminals existed, and a neighbouring eminence is still called Gallows Hill. On the heath near this place, Lord Strange is said to have mustered 20,000 men in favour of the royal cause, in 1642.

In the reign of Henry III., Adam de Bury held a Knight's fee in Bury, of the fee of the Earl of Lincoln, who held it of the King's tenant in chief Earl Ferrers. Adam de Montebegon mesne lord of Tottington, under the Lacies, gave four bovates of land in Tottington, to Edward de Bury, as the marriage portion of his daughter Alicia, and William de Peniston then held that land with Cecilia, the daughter of Alicia. The Bury family were not the sole proprietors at this period, for Henry de Emeledon held two fees in Tottington and in Bury, of ancient tenure. On the death of Henry de Lacy, the Manor of Bury, passed to Thomas, Earl of Lancaster, in right of his wife Alicia, the heiress of the Earl of Lincoln. On the creation of the Duchy of Lancaster in 1351, Roger Pilkington is enumerated among the Duchy tenants, as holding one Knight's fee in Bury, which Adam de Bury formerly held of the Honour of Lancaster. The Bury family, however, had not ceased their connexion with the parish then, nor for many reigns afterwards; and the last mention of this family in the Duchy Records, is Richard Bury, a proprietor of land in Middleton in 1612. Edward IV. granted a license to Sir Thomas Pilkington, a devoted adherent to the House of York, to crenelle and embattle his Manor House at Stand, in Pilkington, and this continued the family residence, till on the attainder of Sir Thomas Pilkington, who espoused the cause of Richard III., at Bosworth, the Manor of Bury and the other estates of the Pilkington family, were granted by the Crown to Thomas, first Earl of Derby, from whom they have descended to the present Earl of that name, whose steward holds a court baron annually about Eastertide. The old Court House stood near the Market Cross. The Court Leet still continues to elect, for the various townships, manorial constables, under whose authority the affairs of the town were once managed, but the prerogatives of this Court are now superseded by the powers of the Magistrates, the County Court, the Corporation, and the Police.

In the reign of Elizabeth, Camden describes Bury as a market town not less considerable than Rochdale, but Blome, who wrote in the time of Charles II., says "Bury is a market town of no great account." Until the middle of the next century, no material change seems to have taken place, though the woollen business had been carried on in the parish since the reign of Edward III., when it was introduced to this country by a number of Flemish emigrants. The manufactures and commerce of the town have advanced steadily during the last thirty years, and great improvements have been effected by the demolition of old buildings, and widening of thoroughfares, &c., though much more is still required in this direction, before completeness can be arrived at. Bury possesses many natural advantages, and these supplemented by the ample facilities afforded by railway and canal communication, and the enterprise and skill of the inhabitants, have been the chief means of the town being raised to its present high position in the commercial world. John Kay, a native of Bury, introduced in 1738 the flying shuttle; and the drop-box and the cotton and woollen card engines were invented by his son Robert.

Bury was created a parliamentary borough under the Reform Act of 1832, by which it was enabled to return one member to Parliament; and its first representative was Richard Walker, Esq. He was succeeded in the representation in 1852 by the Right Honourable F. Peel, but in the election of 1857, he was defeated by Robert Needham Philips, Esq. He was again returned in 1859, and continued in the representation until 1865, when R. N. Philips was again elected, and he still continues to represent the borough in Parliament. The total number of voters on the register in 1879 was 6,866. Before 1876, the local government of the town was vested in the hands of Improvement Commissioners, but on the 9th September of that year, a Charter of Incorporation was granted constituting Bury a municipal borough, the body corporate being styled the "Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of Bury." The borough is divided into five wards, viz.: Church Ward, Redvales Ward, East Ward, Moorside Ward, and Elton Ward, for each of which six councillors are elected. There are also ten aldermen; thus the body corporate, including the mayor, numbers 40 members. The total number of burgesses amount to 8,537. The first mayor was John Duckworth, Esq., and the mayor for the present year (1879-80) is John Heap, Esq. The mayor for 1878-9 was James Park, Esq. The Corporation offices are in Bank-street.

The County Magistrates acting in this division are Robert N. Philips (M.P.), William Fenton, Joseph Fenton, Thomas Wrigley, Richard Bealey, John Hutchinson, Jonathan Mellor, Oliver O. Walker (M.P.), John Fenton, Richard Kay, Charles Cheetham, John J. Mellor, James Fenton, Jesse Leach, T. B. Williams, E. G. Wrigley, Crompton Hutton, John Whitehead, W. O. Walker, Samuel Knowles, John S. Walker, Richard Walker, James Kenyon, James Porritt, David Smith, R. Wood, and W. Hartley, Esqrs. William Plant Woodcock, Esq., is Clerk to magistrates. The borough magistrates are the Mayor, John Duckworth, William Mercer, John O'Neill, Thomas Parker, Matthew Peel, John Wild, R. H. Alcock, Thomas Roberts, and James Park, Esqrs. Clerk to magistrates, Thomas Dodds, Esq.

The Town Hall, Assembly Rooms, Athenæum, Derby Hotel, and Estate Offices form one side of Market Street, from Fleet Street to Haymarket Street, and is a handsome range of buildings in the Italian style of architecture. The Athenæum is a convenient building, containing a lecture and exhibition hall 101 feet by 41 feet, and capable of accommodating about 1,000 persons; a museum 41 feet by 39; reading and news-room, library of 5,000 volumes, class rooms and offices. This admirable institution is in a flourishing condition. The science and art classes conducted are well patronized, and the subjects taught include drawing, electricity, chemistry, mathematics, languages, &c. The Police Station and Court Room form part of the Town Hall, and Petty Sessions are held here every Monday and Thursday. The County Court is also held here, and its jurisdiction extends over the townships of Ainsworth, Ashworth, Birtle-cum-Bamford, Bury, Elton, Heap, Hopwood, Pilkington, Radcliffe, Tottington Lower End, and Walmersley-cum-Shuttleworth. Crompton Hutton, Esq., judge, and E. A. Grundy, Esq., is registrar. The Market Hall, built by the Earl of Derby in 1840, is of a triangular form, and the whole is covered and well lighted. The centre of the market is occupied by stalls surrounded with shops. Thursday is the chartered market day, but Saturday has now been established by custom, and on this day it is well attended; adjacent is a fish market. Fairs are held on March 5th, May 3rd, and September 18th. The Bury Banking Company's establishment in Silver-street is an elegant stone structure. The principal entrance leads into a vestibule 15 feet by 9, and the banking-room, 46 feet by 28, is beautifully decorated. There are also managers, and clerks' rooms, waiting-rooms, suites of offices, &c. The Manchester and Liverpool District Bank is a good building in Market-street. The Savings Bank is situate at the corner of Bank-street and Silver-street, and is a successful institution. The Public Baths, St. Mary's-place, now owned by the Corporation, were erected in 1863. There are two plunge baths, Turkish baths, slipper baths, &c. The Co-operative Hall and offices are in Knowsley-street, and here is a large room suitable for public meetings, lectures, &c. In connection with the society are various reading-rooms, a library, &c. Philips Hall, Garden-street, is a commodious building, erected in 1876, at the sole expense of R. N. Philips, Esq., M.P., and here is held the Trevelyan Club, an extensively patronized institution. There are in the town numerous other clubs, social and political, the principal being the Princes, St. Marie's-gate, the Palatine, Market-place, the Clarence, 1, Fleet-street, the Conservative, Market-place, and Elton, the Liberal, Walmersley-road, and Elton, several working men's clubs, and a Catholic Club, in Fleet-street. The Bury Young Men's Christian Association was established in March, 1875, and is located at 16 and 18, Haymarket-street. There are a reading-room, small library, and educational classes, well attended. The number of members is 271, of whom 52 are honorary. The Bury Church Institute occupies commodious premises in Broad-street, and contains news and reading-room, billiard-room, &c. There are also in the town a Philharmonic Society, a Society of Fine Arts, a Temperance Society, &c. Here also are lodges of the following Orders: Freemasons, Foresters, Philanthropic Free Brethren, Oddfellows, Shepherds, Catholic Brethren, Druids, Rechabites, &c.

The Bury Dispensary was established in 1829, and the site for the present building was presented by the Earl of Derby in 1841. Amongst the principal benefactors to this worthy institution was the late Thomas Norris, Esq., of Howick, who gave to it, in 1873, £4,000, in addition to previous liberal donations. The number of patients admitted in 1878 amounted to 560, and the subscriptions for the year reached £135 14s. 6d. It is under the patronage of the Earl of Derby and several other influential gentlemen, and many of the principal medical gentlemen of the town give their services in its aid. The resident medical officer is Mr. W. C. Sparrow, M.R.C.S., L.K.Q.C.P. The benefits hitherto conferred by this institution are in a short time to be considerably augmented by the erection of the New Dispensary Hospital, in Walmersley-road. The handsome bequest of the late Mr. Norris gave impetus to this project long entertained by many of the inhabitants. The site, containing about five statute acres, was presented by the Earl of Derby, and the designs were supplied by Mr. Lawrence Booth. The building, which is now approaching completion, will at once provide accommodation for 20 patients, with a capacity of ultimately accommodating 60 patients. All the outside walls are faced with stone, and, being built with a cavity, are cased inside with bricks. The interior wood work is of pitch varnished, and the ward and day-rooms, are warmed by Shillitto and Shorlands open grates.

The Drill Hall, or Castle Armoury, in Cooper Street, was erected in 1868, at a cost of £3,000, and is the head quarters of the 8th Lancashire Rifle Volunteers. It has a castellated Norman front, and the drill hall is 110 feet by 73 feet. The right wing of the building contains the Armoury, and there are also Guard and Orderly Rooms, Sergeant-Major's Quarters, and a well-lighted Reading Room. The Wellington Barracks, Elton, are the Head Quarters of the 17th Brigade Depot, of which Lieut.-Col. W. H. Kerr is commanding officer; and at a short distance are the Barracks of the 7th Royal Lancashire Militia. Lieut.-Col. James Ashton commanding; Captain C. E. Hussey, Adjutant. The Star Theatre, adjacent to the Market, is pretty well patronized; and in the Wylde is a Skating Rink, very pleasantly situated. Among the ornaments of the town may be mentioned the Peel Monument. It stands in the centre of the Market Place, and was erected by subscription in 1852, at a cost of £3,000, in memory of the late Sir Robert Peel, Bart. The figure is 10 feet in height, on a pedestal of Scotch granite 12 feet 5 inches high, the whole being enclosed with a strong iron palisading. The Corporation Gasworks, situate in Elton, consist of three gasholders capable of containing 1,450,000 cubic feet of gas, which is sold to consumers at 3s. 4d. per 1,000 feet. The streets of the borough are lighted by 1,400 public lamps. There are about 12,000 consumers, and 180,000,000 cubic feet are consumed annually. The neighbouring villages of Walmersley and Cockey Moor are also supplied with gas from these works. The Waterworks are also owned by the Corporation, and the inhabitants have a liberal supply of water. Several of the adjoining villages get their supply of water from these works. There are three newspapers published in the town, viz., the Bury Times, the Bury Guardian, both weekly, and the East Lancashire Echo, every evening.

St. Mary's Parish Church is of great antiquity, it being in existence in 1086. It was rebuilt in 1775, and in 1844 the spire was rebuilt. Again in 1876 the whole of the building, with the exception of the spire, was rebuilt from a design furnished by Mr. J. Crowther, the cost of erection amounting to £27,000, raised by subscription. It is now a handsome Gothic edifice, and contains 1,000 sittings, the whole of which are free. The benefice is a rectory of the annual nominal value of £1,937, in the patronage of the Earl of Derby, and held by the Rev. Edward James Geoffrey Hornby, M.A., (Surrogate, and Rural Dean.) The population of the parish in 1871 was 7,504. St. John's Church is a plain structure, situate in Stanley Street, erected in 1770. It contains 790 sittings, of which 200 are free. The benefice is a vicarage of the annual value of £320, in the patronage of the rector of Bury, and held by the Rev. Edmund James Smith, M.A., (Surrogate.) Population of the parish in 1874, 5,877. St. Paul's Church, Wash Lane, is a commodious edifice erected in 1842. It contains 1,600 sittings, of which 400 are free. The benefice is a perpetual curacy of the annual value of £340, in the patronage of the rector of Bury, Thomas Openshaw, James Openshaw, John M. Wyke, and John Lomax, Esqrs. The incumbent is the Rev. James Chell. Population of the parish in 1871, 8,729. St. Peter's Church is a neat Gothic structure in Manchester road, erected in 1872 at a cost of £6,000, exclusive of site. It is built from a design of Messrs. Maycock and Bell, and it contains 500 sittings, all free. The benefice is a perpetual curacy of the annual value of £195, in the patronage of the rector of Bury, and held by the Rev. Richard Hudson, B.A. Population of the parish in 1871, 3,000. Holy Trinity Church, Spring Street, is a handsome Gothic edifice, erected from a design by Mr. E. G. Paley, of Lancaster, in 1865. The cost of erection, exclusive of site, was £5,000. It contains 627 sittings, all of which are free. The benefice is a vicarage of the annual value of £360, in the patronage of the rector of Bury, and held by the Rev. Joseph Colvey Hordern. Population of the parish in 1871, 6,337. St. Thomas' Church, Rochdale Road, was erected in 1866, from a design supplied by Messrs. Blackwell, Son, and Booth. This is also a handsome Gothic structure, containing 652 sittings, of which 184 are free. The benefice is a perpetual curacy of the annual value of £220, in the patronage of the rector of Bury, and held by the Rev. John Williams, M.A. Population of the parish in 1871, 3,566. All Saints' Church, Elton, is a commodious structure erected in 1843. It contains 720 sittings, of which 240 are free. The benefice is a vicarage of the annual value of £300, in the patronage of the rector of Bury, and held by the Rev. Edward Westerman, M.A. (Surrogate). Population of the parish in 1871, 9,429. A new church to be dedicated to St. Stephen is shortly to be built in Elton, on a site presented by the Earl of Derby, and from a design furnished by Mr. Redmayne, of Manchester. The cost of erection is estimated to be about £6,000. At present service is held in the school. Rev. Ralph Parkinson Linfield, M.A., curate in charge. Service is also held in St. Mark's school, Freetown, which contains 250 sittings. And here also it is in contemplation to erect a new church. Rev. Bigland Withers, curate in charge.

The Catholic Church dedicated to St. Marie was erected in 1842, and is pleasantly situated in St. Marie's Gate, Manchester Road. The Very Rev. James Canon Boardman, M.R., is senior priest. The Catholic population of the parish is 2,310. St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Peter Street, was erected in 1871, and is a neat brick edifice with stone dressings, and consisting of nave, chancel and Lady chapel. It will seat 700 persons, and the population of the parish is 2,926. Rev. John Fraser, pastor.

The Nonconformists are a very numerous body in Bury and neighbourhood, and they possess several good buildings. The Wesleyan Chapel, Union Street, is a large brick edifice, and at Pits o' th' Moor is a School Chapel belonging this body. The "Christian Church," Rochdale Road, is a small but neat building. Rev. Franklin Howarth, pastor. The Methodist New Connexion Chapel, Heywood Street, is a good building. Rev. Edwin F. Denton, pastor. In Bolton Street is another large Chapel belonging this body. The Independents or Congregationalists have a large Chapel in Clough Street (New Road). Rev. Joseph G. Deaville, pastor. Another Chapel in Henry Street is under the pastoral care of the Rev. Charles Ashford, B.A., and that at Castle Croft is under the care of the Rev. H. A. Lawson, M.A. This body have another Chapel at Blackford Bridge, erected about four years ago. The Presbyterian (Unitarian) Chapel, Bank Street, is a handsome Gothic building. Rev. Douglas Walmsley, B.A., minister. The Baptist Chapel, Knowsley Street, is a substantial brick edifice. Rev. William Bury, minister. The Particular Baptists have a neat Chapel in Bridge Street, Freetown. The New Jerusalem Church is situate in Walmersley Road, and here is also a neat Chapel belonging to the Primitive Methodists. This body have another Chapel in Elton. The United Methodist Free Church, North Street, is a handsome edifice and has recently been renovated at a cost of about £1,000. There are also chapels or meeting rooms belonging this body at Heap Bridge, Limefield, Elton, Warth Fold, Parker Street, and Higher Woodhill; and the Independent Methodists have a Chapel in Henry Street.

Day and Sunday schools, many of them extensive establishments, are attached to most of the principal places of worship, and the duty of securing the attendance of the children devolves upon a school attendance committee of the Corporation. The Grammar School is situate in the Wylde, and the Rev. William Howlett, M.A., is head master.

The Union Workhouse is situate in Jericho,[‡] and it possesses accommodation for 750 inmates. The offices of the Board of Guardians are in Parson's Lane, and the Union comprises the following townships:—Ainsworth, Ashworth, Birtle-cum-Bamford, Bury, Elton, Heap, Hopwood, Pilkington, Pilsworth, Radcliffe, Tottington Lower End, and Walmersley-cum-Shuttleworth. Rateable value of the Union, £516,008, and the area is 33,527 acres. The population amounted in 1871 to 109,155. William Hoyle, Esq., is chairman of the board; William Plant Woodcock, Esq., clerk; and Mr. Andrew Hagerty, master of the workhouse. The Cemetery occupies a pleasant position on the Manchester Road. It was opened for interment in 1869. It covers an area of 33 acres, and has three mortuary chapels, registrar's house, &c. Mr. A. D. Wright, Registrar.

The township of Elton extends into the town, and is mostly included in the borough of Bury, which contained in 1861 a population of 33,556; in 1871, 41,344; and now (1880) it amounts to about 50,000. The township of Bury contained in 1861, 30,397; and in 1871, 32,611 souls; and it covers an area of 2,330 acres. Rateable value, £136,970.

The land of the parish is soft loam, and tolerably fertile, but the larger portion of it is in pasture.
