

H. W. Jones. St. Joseph's Catholic Church is situate in Bolton street. It is a handsome stone edifice in the Early English style of architecture, and is capable of seating 600 persons, and the cost of its erection was about £4,000. The foundation stone was laid by Dr. Vaughan, Bishop of Salford, September 27th, 1879, and was opened in September, 1880. The mission was first established in 1862, and the Catholic population amounts to 1,210 souls. Rev. Bernard Gustave De Mullewie, priest. St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Bolton road, is a handsome Gothic edifice, erected in 1873, at a cost of £7,000. Rev. W. H. Elliot, minister. The Wesleyans have a large chapel situate in the Market Place (built in 1825 and rebuilt in 1874). The Primitive Methodist Chapel in Bridge street was built in 1862. The United Methodist Free Church have a chapel at Patmos. The Baptists have a neat stone chapel in Bolton street, erected in 1861, and now under the ministry of the Rev. Robert Maden. There are Independent Chapels at Stubbins and Park; the former being in Edenfield district, and the latter in Walmersley. The New Jerusalem Church, erected in 1831, was rebuilt in 1856. Rev. Samuel Pilkington, pastor. The Public Library, Market Place, was established in 1838. It contains upwards of 1,200 volumes. Mr. Joseph Hebden, librarian. The Manchester and Liverpool District Bank, the Lancashire and Yorkshire Bank, and the Bury Bank, have each a branch here. The Liberal Club occupies a handsome building in Buchanan street, recently erected. The Conservative Club is held in the Market Place. In connection with the Co-operative Society is a library of upwards of 1,700 volumes, and science and art classes, and also elementary classes are held in the Science and Art School, Ramsbottom lane. St. Andrew's British School was built in 1872, by William Grant, Esq., at a cost of £2,000. Day and Sunday Schools are also in connection with most of the principal places of worship. In the town are a Temperance Society, a Band of Hope Union, and a Cricket Club. Fairs are held on April 28th, and the first Monday after the 27th of August.

HOLCOMBE

Is a village in the township of Tottington Lower End, and is contiguous to the town of Ramsbottom. The new line of railway from Bury to Tottington has a station here. The village stands on an eminence, and from the tower erected on its summit in 1851-2, at a cost of £900, to the memory of the late Sir Robert Peel (second baronet), are obtained some extensive and pleasing views of the surrounding country. The ancient parochial chapel which existed in 1552, was taken down several years ago, and the present handsome church was opened on the 8th of April, 1853, the cost of its erection being £2,226. It is dedicated to Emmanuel, and consists of nave, chancel, and north transept, with a lofty spire at the west end. There are 350 sittings, of which 140 are free. The benefice is a rectory of the annual value of £185, with residence, in the patronage of the Rector of Bury, and held by the Rev. Henry Dowsett. The population of the parish in 1881 was 4,453. Service is also held in the School-Chapel, Hawkshaw Lane, in which there is accommodation for 350 persons. The Wesleyans and the United Methodists have each a chapel in Hawkshaw lane, and the latter body have also a place of worship in Holcombe village.

TOTTINGTON

Is a large village, two and a half miles N.W. from Bury, but the township of Tottington extends five miles from that town, and comprises most of Ramsbottom and the village of Holcombe. A short line of railway, recently opened, and the steam tram cars give increased facilities for travelling to Bury and adjoining towns. In the 17th century the township was divided for local purposes into the two townships of Tottington Higher End and Tottington Lower End, and the latter is still further divided for rating purposes into two divisions. The copyhold manor, originally an appendage to the Crown, was in the successive possession of the Houses of Lincoln and Lancaster, and the seat of the superior court to which the manor of Bury, Middleton, Chatterton, and Alkrington owed suit and service. It was given, with other manors, by Charles II. to General Monk, Duke of Albermarle, as a portion of his reward for services to the House of Stuart. The Albemarle possessions were vested in Lady Montague, and from her the manor has descended to the present Duke of Buccleuch. The township contains 5,271 acres, and its rateable value amounts to £60,258. Its population in 1851 was 10,691; 1861, 11,764; 1871, 12,531; and in 1881, 16,428.

The Church, dedicated to St. Anne, was erected in 1799, and repaired in 1844, and in 1867 the church was reseated. Several other internal improvements have since been effected. It contains 700 sittings, all of which are free. The benefice is a vicarage, of the annual value of £300, in the patronage of the rector of Bury, and held by the Rev. Thomas Dickin Morris, M.A. The population of the parish in 1881 was 6,733. St. John's (Free Church of England) is a neat stone building, erected in 1867, at a cost of £1,550. It will seat 400 persons. The Rev. John Brunskill, incumbent. The Congregational Chapel, Green Mount, is a handsome Gothic edifice with a lofty spire. It was built in 1866-7, at a cost of £3,330. The old chapel is now used for school purposes. The Wesleyans have a large chapel here, also a good school erected some years ago, at a cost of £2,000, raised by subscription. Holly Mount College, built a few years since as an academy for young gentlemen, is a large and pleasantly situated building in a healthy locality, and the instruction imparted is both varied, solid, and extensive. A fair is held on the third Friday in August.

(For the remainder of the names in the township see Ramsbottom and Bury.)
