

manufacturing of cotton goods, including checks, gingham, fustians, smallwares, &c., is largely carried on. But along with this, which may be considered the staple trade, are extensive chemical works, bleach, dye, and print works, employing a great number of people. Coal is found abundantly in the immediate neighbourhood, and here are also iron foundries, breweries, and various other important trades. The population in 1851, was 6,293; 1861, 8,838; 1871, 11,446; and 1881, 16,263. It contains 2,533 acres, and its rateable value amounts to £75,753.

Radcliffe is said to have taken its name from a cliffe or rock of the red sandstone formation, on the south side of the Irwell, below its confluence with the Roach. Radcliffe Tower, long since in ruins, was formerly the seat of the Radcliffe family, and it is said to have been one of the most considerable manorial residences in the country. The ancient wooden hall, with massive oak uprights and beams, is supposed to have been erected about the time of Henry IV., and it appears that Richard Radcliffe, high sheriff of Lancashire (32 Edward III.), was of Radcliffe Tower. An alabaster slab in the church, of the same antiquity, covered the remains of James de Radcliffe, the founder of the mansion. To this place and family are attached the legend and ballad in Percy's Reliques. The Park attached to the Tower stretched for some distance along the vale of the Irwell. Radcliffe is separated from the township of Pilkington by the river Irwell, which is here crossed by a bridge of two arches. The new line of railway connecting Manchester with Prestwich, Whitefield, and the adjacent townships, has a station here. By the opening of this line, a considerable boon has been conferred on the inhabitants of these towns, as there is now direct access to Bolton and surrounding districts, this line being joined to the Bury and Bolton branch, a short distance from Bradley Fold. The local government of the town is vested in the hands of a Local Board, consisting of twelve members, whose office is in Spring Lane, and the town is lighted with gas by the Radcliffe and Pilkington Gas Co., who have large works in Egerton street. The adjoining district of Whitefield is also supplied with gas from these works. There is also a plentiful supply of water, and the office of the Water Works Company is situated in Blackburn street.

The Parish Church, dedicated to St. Bartholomew, is an ancient structure, with a low square tower. It was in existence in 1282, and the architecture is of various styles. It was restored, and a new transept added in 1846; and in 1872 it was enlarged by the addition of a new aisle; and the interior was re-seated at the expense of the dowager Mrs. Starkie. The church contains 568 sittings, all of which are free. The benefice is a rectory of the annual value of £960, in the patronage of the Earl of Wilton, and held by the Rev. Henry Arthur Starkie, M.A. The population of the parish, in 1881, was 6,178. St. Thomas's Church, Blackburn Street, is a large and substantial stone edifice, erected in 1819. It was rebuilt in 1864, from a design by Mr. W. Walker, at a cost of £7,300. It contains 1,210 sittings, of which 512 are free. The benefice is a vicarage, of the annual value of £390, in the patronage of the Earl of Wilton, and held by the Rev. Robert Fletcher, M.A. (surrogate.) Population of the parish, 6,918. St. Andrew's Church, Black Lane, is a handsome Gothic edifice, erected in 1877, at a cost of £5,500, raised by subscription. The design was supplied by Mr. J. Lowe, and the site presented by the Earl of Wilton. It contains 474 sittings, all free. The benefice is a vicarage, of the annual value of £275, in the patronage of the rector of Radcliffe, and held by the Rev. Samuel Williamson. Population of the parish, 2,623. St. John the Evangelist's Church, Stand Lane, is a neat building, erected in 1866, at a cost of £3,790. It is from a design by Mr. J. M. Taylor, and contains 785 sittings, of which 409 are free. The benefice is a vicarage, of the annual value of £240, in the patronage of three Trustees, and held by the Rev. William David Carter, M.A. Population of the parish, 4,129. The Catholic Church, dedicated to St. Mary, is situate in Victoria street. It dates from 1863, but in 1878 a new and more commodious building was erected, at a cost of £2,000. Rev. James F. Gerity, priest. The Catholic population is 1,200. The New Jerusalem Church, Stand Lane, was erected in 1879. It occupies the site of two previous chapels, one being built in 1803 and the other in 1841. The design was supplied by Mr. Thomas Thorpe, and the style of architecture is Free Classic. The church is of stone externally, with dressings from the Slaithwaite quarries. Two turrets, 60 feet high, ornament the church in front. The total length of the building is 74 feet, and its width is 45 feet. The internal accommodation comprises nave and aisles, and galleries on the south, west, and north sides, and organ chamber and vestries at the east end. The church seats 650 persons, and the cost of its erection was £3,500. Rev. James Boys, minister. The Wesleyan Chapel, Radcliffe Bridge, was opened February 7th, 1883, and has superseded the old chapel which stood in Stand Lane. The new edifice is a substantial stone building, in the Grecian Doric style of architecture, and cost £5,750. It will seat 850 persons. The Wesleyan Chapel, Radcliffe Close, was built in 1839. The Primitive Methodist Chapel, Railway Street, was built in 1867; and the Independent Chapels are situated in Water Street and Church Street. There are in the town Conservative and Liberal Clubs, Working Men's Clubs, a Temperance Society, &c. A Public Hall for meetings, &c., is in Sion Street, and in Railway Street is the Police Station. Races were at one time held here, but they have been discontinued for some time. Fairs are held on April 28th and Sep. 28th.
