HEYWOOD.

THIS town is partly in the township of Heap, and partly in that of Hopwood, and is in the parish of Bury, hundred of Salford, and diocese of Manchester. Heywood is known as the birthplace of that zealous Lancashire magistrate, Peter Heywood, mentioned by Lord Clarendon in his history, whose fortune it was to contribute to the discovery of the conspirators implicated in the gunpowder plot. The cotton trade is carried on very extensively in the town, and here are also woollen mills, iron foundries, and machine works, railway waggon building works, and various other trades and professions. The town is situate on the banks of the river Roach, and is distant 3 miles from Bury, 3 from Rochdale, $9\frac{1}{2}$ from Manchester, and 38 from Liverpool. The Lancashire and Yorkshire line of railway has a station here, and affords every facility for the rapid conveyance of passengers, merchandise, and minerals to and from the town. A branch of the Rochdale Canal enters the town, close to Manchester Road, and the tramway connecting the town with Bury and Manchester is also of great service to the inhabitants. The township of Heap, the principal portion of which is in the town of Heywood, contains 2,936 acres, and its rateable value amounts to £82,915. The population in 1851, was 16,048; 1861, 17,353; 1871, 17,353; and 1881, 17,733. The population of the town at the present time, amounts to about 25,000 souls. About 70 years ago, when Sir Robert Peel, grandfather of the present baronet, began the manufacturing business at Makeant Mill, the population of the place principally consisted of only a few hundred handloom weavers, and a few employed in agricultural pursuits; so that it is only of late years Heywood has grown from a straggling village into a town of considerable importance. The affairs of the town were up to recently managed by a Local Board, which, on the charter of incorporation being granted, was dissolved, and the Heywood Corporation took its place. The borough is divided into three wards, named North, South, and West Wards, and the Corporation is composed of six aldermen and eighteen councillors. The Magistrates for the Borough are the Mayor; V. K. Armitage, Benjamin Buckley, John Fletcher, William Hartley, G. N. Hodgkinson, Thomas Lord, T. F. Mackison, and William Todd, Esqs. Mr. Alfred Wallis is Clerk to Magistrates, and Town Clerk.

The Church, dedicated to St. Luke, is a noble structure, in the style of architecture which prevailed in the time of Edward III. It occupies a central position in the town, and is on the site of an older building dating from 1577. The present edifice was erected in 1860-2, at a cost of nearly £10,000, the design being furnished by Mr. J. Clarke. This amount was raised by public subscription; the scholars attached to the Church contributing the handsome sum of £500. The Church contains 1,080 sittings, of which 530 are free. The benefice is a rectory of the annual value of £400, in the patronage of the rector of Bury, and held by the Rev. John Spittal, M.A. The population of the parish in 1881, was 8,680. St. James's Church, Tower Street, is a substantial stone edifice, erected in 1838, at a cost of £4,200, defrayed partly by subscriptions and partly by a grant from the Diocesan Society. It contains 1,250 sittings, of which 500 are free. The benefice is a vicarage of the annual value of £300, in the patronage of the Bishop of Manchester, and held by the Rev. Edward James Russell, M.A. Population of the parish in 1881, 7,538. Service is also held in the following School Chapels:—St. Michael's, Bamford, contains 200 sittings, Rev. John Compton Butterworth, B.A., curate in charge; St. John's, Hopwood, is under the pastoral care of the Rev. Francis Edwin Waldie, curate in charge. Gooden School is attended by the clergy of St. Luke's; and Heady Hill School and Heap Bridge School are attended by the clergy of St. James's. St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Dawson Street, was opened in 1856. The Catholic population is 2,486. Rev. Arthur S. McCann, pastor. The Wesleyan Methodist Chapel, Market Street, was built in 1805, and enlarged in 1828. This body have also a Chapel at Hopwood, and another at Bamford. The Independent Chapel, York Street, is a neat brick edifice with stone dressings. Rev. William Henry Fothergill, minister; and the Independent Chapel, Bamford, is under the ministry of the Rev. W. McIntosh Arthur. The Methodist Free Church have Chapels in Bethel Street, Bury New Road, and Hopwood. The Baptist Chapel, Rochdale Road, is a neat building; Rev. George Hitchon, minister. The Baptist Chapel, Starkey Street, was built in 1864; Rev. John Ashworth, pastor; and the Chapel in Aspinall Street was built in 1871. The Primitive Methodist Chapel, Bridge Street, was built in 1871; another Chapel belonging this body is situate in Miller Street. The New Jerusalem Church stands in Church Street; Rev. Richard Storry, pastor. The Unitarian Chapel, Britain Lane, is under the pastoral care of the Rev. James Edward Stead. The Heywood Free School, Church Street, owes its origin to Mr. Starkey, who about 1757 built at the north side of the chapel a bay of building with a chamber over it for the purpose of a school. He and Mr. James Lancashire gave each £50 for an endowment. The teacher has to be nominated by the owner of Heywood Hall, and the children are to be educated in the principles of the Church of England.

The Queen's Park, presented by Her Majesty, as Duchess of Lancaster, to the town of Heywood, is pleasantly situated a short distance from William Street. It was opened to the public, August 2nd, 1870, by Col. Taylor, then Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. On the death of Mr. Charles Martin Newhouse, he dying intestate, his estates, amounting to over £14,000, fell to the Crown. But Her Majesty, not wishing to retain the money, was graciously pleased to accede to the wishes of the inhabitants of Heywood that it should be expended for the purpose of providing a public park; and this has now been done, with the exception of various sums given to relations of the late Mr. Newhouse. The site, which covers about twenty acres, was purchased from Messrs. Langton and Hornby, for £4,500. It is situate upon a beautiful tract of hill copse and woodland pasture, which rises above the river Roach, about half a mile from the centre of the town. All the various works were carried out under the direction of Mr. G. R. Cartwright, of the office of the Surveyor General of the Duchy of Lancaster; and the stonework was executed by Messrs. Diggle Brothers, of Heywood. The Cemetery occupies a beautiful situation, about two miles from the town, on the Rochdale Road. The site, which covers an area of twenty acres, is elevated, and one of the most eligible that could have been selected. It was opened for interment in 1856, and there are three mortuary chapels, and registrars' house, &c.

The Gas Works are situate at Hookey Bridge, and are owned by the Corporation. They consist of three holders, with an aggregate capacity of about 600,000 cubic feet of gas. The number of public lamps is 690; Mr. Robert Smith, C.E., manager. The Water Works are also under the control of the Corporation, they being purchased from the Heywood Waterworks Company in 1877. The town is copiously supplied with water of an excellent quality. The offices are in Miller Street, and Mr. James Diggle is manager. The Reform Club, Market Street, is a commodious building, erected in 1882 at a cost, including site, of £4,000. The large assembly room, adapted for meetings, &c., will accommodate 1,000 people. The institution is in a flourishing condition, having about 800 members. The Conservative Club, York Street, has a lecture room capable of holding 600 persons, and library, news, and other rooms. The Free Library, Market Street, contains 6,490 volumes. Mr. James Leach, librarian. The Drill Hall of the 1st Vol. Batt. Lancashire Fusilliers is in Longford Street. The Union Bank of Manchester, the Manchester and Liverpool District Bank, and the Bury Bank have each a branch in the town. Fairs are held on the first Friday in April, first Friday before the first Sunday in August, and the first Friday after the first of October.

HOPWOOD

Is a township in the parish of Middleton, but the most populous is included in the borough of Heywood. The Hopwood family have been seated here for many centuries. In 1359, Adam de Hopwood was one of the inquisition at Preston, before Thomas de Seton and others, justices of Henry, the first Duke of Lancaster, in the dispute between him and Roger de la Warre. On the death of Dr. Hopwood, in the early part of the eighteenth century, by which event the local family became extinct, the Hopwood estate passed by will to Joseph Gregge, Esq., an ancestor of the present proprietor, Edward John Gregge Hopwood, Esq. The township contains 2,115 acres, and its rateable value is £29,174. The population in 1851 was 1,575; 1861, 2,281; 1871, 3,655; and 1881, 4,439.
